PREFACE.

In April, 1908, as the result of informal correspondence among librarians of the Pacific Northwest, it was decided to prepare a co-operative library check-list of books and pamphlets relating to the region. The plan agreed upon was that each library should furnish a card list of its own items and that these lists so prepared should be combined into a single alphabet and published. The University of Washington Library offered its services as a medium of communication and all correspondence relative to the work has been carried on through this institution.

Tentative specifications covering scope and form of entry were sent to representative libraries for suggestions and criticisms. As soon as replies were received from all, final rules, representing the expressed wishes of a majority of the collaborators, were prepared and sent to each contributing library.

The scope of the check-list, as determined by this preliminary canvas, was made to include all books and pamphlets relating to the history of that geographical area lying north of California and west of the Rocky mountains, including the states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana, together with British Columbia, Alaska and the Yukon. The word history has been used in its broadest sense, including a wide range of literature bearing upon the region, such as description, travel, fiction, and works written from the scientific or commercial standpoint.

The following classes of material have been excluded:

1. Manuscripts.
2. State documents, because listed in Bowker's State Publications.
3. Federal documents, to which there is some clue through government indexes.
4. Periodicals published in the region, except those devoted mainly or entirely to history, such as historical magazines. Serials, however, as year-books, proceedings and transactions of societies have been included as a part of the institutional history of the region.

In the case of state and federal documents which as a class have been excluded, exception was made of some few official and semi-official publications of special importance.

In listing the material, the Dewey Library School Rules were used as a basis, but certain modifications were made to conform to the wishes of contributing librarians.

The work began with eleven libraries represented. During its progress, two more joined the enterprise, making a total of thirteen. It is especially to be regretted that the Library of the Oregon State Historical Society could not have been included. Of those participating, two libraries, namely, the Legislative Library of British Columbia and the Portland Library Association, were unable, for lack of time, to complete their lists, both of them having omitted practically their entire collection of pamphlets.

It was found impracticable to submit proof sheets of the check-list to the different contributors for corrections or additions. Owing to varying interpretations of rules, inevitable in working from written instructions without personal conference, the list will necessarily fail to credit each library with all the items which it contains. The present publication must therefore be considered as a tentative list, a preliminary survey of the field, whose significance is for the future rather than for the present. While primarily intended as a librarian's reference book for use in a co-operative development of library resources, it is hoped that it will also prove helpful to students who wish to know what material relating to the region is now available and where it can be found.

The preparation of this list is due to the hearty co-operation of each contributor. Its publication was generously assumed by the Washington State Library, and a special debt of gratitude is due its librarian, Mr. J. M. Hitt.

DESCRIPTIVE LIST OF LIBRARIES.

L LIBRARY OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY OF THE PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA, Victoria, B. C.

A reference library only, being principally for the use of legislators and government officials. It may, however, be used by the public when the house is not in session. It contains about 35,000 volumes, including pamphlets. The Dewey decimal classification is used.

The Library of the Legislative Assembly was established in 1893. The subject matter of the library is in the main of a legal and parliamentary nature. It embraces, however, a comparatively large and valuable collection of early discoveries and historical works relating to the Northwest Pacific Coast of America and the Northwest Territories of Canada.

The reading room is open to the public during government hours,—viz. from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M.—every day that the legislature is not in session.

Librarian, E. O. S. Scholefield.

M MONTANA STATE HISTORICAL AND MISCELLANEOUS LIBRARY, Helena, Montana.

A reference library containing 14,932 volumes. Open daily except Sunday from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M. The privileges of the library are extended so far as possible to all citizens of the state.

The Historical Society of Montana was incorporated in 1865 "in order to collect and arrange facts in regard to the early history of this Territory, the discovery of mines, incidents of the fur trade, etc." Its first headquarters were at Virginia City. Subsequently they were moved to Deer Lodge and then to Helena. In 1893, the property of the Historical Society came under the control of the state. It was combined with the Miscellaneous Department of the State Library and on the completion of the State Capitol in 1902 the present quarters were occupied.

Librarian, William S. Bell.

Mu UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA LIBRARY, Missoula, Montana.

Contains 16,000 bound volumes and several thousand pamphlets. Open daily, except Sunday, from 8:15 A. M. to 5:30 P. M. and from 7 to 9:30 P. M. On Sunday, the hours are from 2:30 to 5 P. M. Its use is free to students and members of the faculty. Books are loaned from the library for one week. Reference books, reserved books and current periodicals do not circulate.

The library started with a collection of books donated at the organization of the University in September, 1895. It is now housed in a two-story brick building, located on the north side of the main oval.

Librarian, Gertrude Buckhous.

O UNIVERSITY OF OREGON LIBRARY, Eugene, Oregon.

Contains about 18,000 volumes. Open daily during term time from 7:45 A. M. to 5 P. M. and from 7 to 9 P. M. except that it is not open Friday evenings or Saturday afternoons. Vacation hours are from 8 to 12 A. M. and from 2 to 4 P. M. Users of the library are allowed to draw books for a period of three weeks, with renewal privileges.

The University of Oregon Library may be said to have been founded in 1882, when Mr. Henry Villard, president of the Northern Pacific railroad, contributed to the University $1,000 for books. During the four preceding years the library needs of the institution were served by collections of books belonging to the two literary societies. In 1883, Mr. Villard gave to the University an endowment fund of $50,000, one of the conditions of the gift being that not less than $400 a year should be expended for books. The library is now entering upon a period of more rapid development, made possible by increased appropriations.

Librarian, M. H. Douglass.

P LIBRARY ASSOCIATION OF PORTLAND, Portland, Oregon.

Contains about 80,000 volumes, the reference library comprising nearly 20,000 of these. The central building is open from 9 A. M. to 9:30 P. M. on week days and on Sundays and holidays the reference and periodical departments are open from 2 until 6 P. M.

The Library Association of Portland was founded in 1863 and until 1902 was a subscription library. In 1891, the library was moved into its present building on the corner of Seventh and Stark streets. On March 10, 1902, the library became free and since that time has made rapid strides, both in the acquisition of books and in the increase of membership and circulation. There are at the present time three branches, seven reading rooms and twelve deposit stations.

Librarian, Mary Frances Isom.

Pu LIBRARY OF PACIFIC UNIVERSITY, Forest Grove, Oregon.

Contains about 15,000 volumes. The part containing public documents, state and federal, is open to the public free for reference. Privilege to use the rest of the library is granted to students upon payment of $3 a year and to others upon payment of $5 a year. As student assistants are employed, the hours are not quite regular, but they are usually from 8 to 12 A. M. and from 1:15 to 4:15 P. M. during term time. No provision is made for regular opening during vacation.

The library had its origin early in the history of the school. When Doctor Atkinson went East, in 1851 or 1852, to secure teachers, he obtained a number of books which formed the nucleus of the present collection. Rev. Jedidiah Morse, who published the first American school geography, left a fine collection of works on geography, history and travel. About 500 of these volumes were given by his sons to President S. H. Marsh at one of his appeals for the school about 1860. The present librarian has held his position since 1874.

Librarian, Joseph W. Marsh.

S SEATTLE PUBLIC LIBRARY, Seattle, Washington.

A free public library of 102,835 volumes, founded in 1891. The central library is located at Fourth avenue and Madison street, and occupies a $300,000 building, erected with funds provided largely by Andrew Carnegie. This building contains an art gallery and separate rooms for newspapers, periodicals, fine art books, children's work, reference department and circulation department. The library also operates four branch librarles.

The main library is open from 9 A. M. to 10 P. M. on week days and from 3 P. M. to 10 P. M. on Sundays and holidays. The use of books for reading and consultation at the library is free to all. The privilege of borrowing books for home use is free to all residents of Seattle, and to those non-residents who are Seattle tax payers or have their place of business or employment in the city.

In addition to the 102,835 volumes mentioned above, the library has several thousand volumes of municipal, state and federal documents and a large number of pamphlets.

Librarian, Judson T. Jennings.

Sc LIBRARY OF THE STATE COLLEGE OF WASHINGTON, Pullman, Washington.

Contains about 17,000 bound volumes and 11,200 pamphlets. Open daily, except Sundays and legal holidays, from 8 A. M. to 6 P. M. On Sundays, the reading room is open from 2 to 4 P. M.

The library is now located in the Administration building. A new Auditorium and Library building is in process of construction and will be occupied at the beginning of the school year, in September, 1909.

Acting librarian, Stella Wilson.

Sp SPOKANE PUBLIC LIBRARY, Spokane, Washington.

Contains 27,083 volumes. Open from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. on week days and from 2 to 9 P. M. on Sundays.

The library was organized in 1884. In 1891, it was consolidated with the labor unions library and became known as the Union Library Association, which name was changed in August, 1894, to the Spokane City Library. In 1905, it was moved into the present Carnegie Library building, located on Cedar street, between Riverside and First avenues. Three branches are operated, being open one afternoon each week. A special effort is being made to collect local history.

Librarian, Mrs. Estella Deffenbaugh.

W WASHINGTON STATE LIBRARY, Olympia, Washington.

Located in the Capitol, first floor, east wing. Contains 25,460 volumes. It is open from 9 to 12 A. M. and from 1 to 5 P. M. daily, except Sunday. During sessions of the Legislature, the hours are from 9 A. M. to 10 P. M.

The Washington State Library was organized in 1854. The first books were brought around the Horn by General Isaac I. Stevens, first governor of the Territory of Washington.

The privileges of the library are free to all citizens of the state.

Librarian, J. M. Hitt.

Wa WALLA WALLA FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY, Walla Walla, Washington.

The library building is situated at the corner of Alder, Palouse and Poplar streets. It is open from 1 until 9 P. M. and on Sundays from 2 until 6 P. M. Contains about 6,000 volumes.

The first library movement in Walla Walla was started in 1865, when the Walla Walla Library and Literary Association was incorporated. It was a subscription library and interest in this first movement soon died; the library was revived, however, at two different times previous to 1897, when it was established for the first time as a free public library. It was moved into the present building, the gift of Mr. Carnegie, in November, 1905.

Librarian, Ellen Garfield Smith.

Wh WHITMAN COLLEGE LIBRARY, Walla Walla, Washington.

Contains 15,655 bound volumes and several thousand pamphlets. Open during term time from 8 A. M. to 5 P. M. daily, except Sunday. While primarily for the faculty and students of the college, the privileges of the library are extended to all citizens of Walla Walla and to visitors from outside of the city.

Whitman College Library had its beginning in 1882 with the gift of Rev. Myron Eells of twenty-five dollars, fourteen bound volumes and fifteen pamphlets. The library contains a special collection of books relating to the Pacific Northwest, including valuable material bearing upon the life of Marcus Whitman.

Librarian, Arminda L. Fix.

Wu UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON LIBRARY, Seattle, Washington.

Contains 37,630 volumes. Located in the Administration building. The main entrance to the University campus is at 15th avenue, N. E. and 42nd street. Open during general sessions, 8 A. M. to 5:30 P. M. and from 7 to 10 P. M., Mondays to Fridays; on Saturdays, 8 to 12 A. M. and from 1 to 5 P. M. During vacation recesses, the library is open from 9 to 12 A. M.

Primarily a reference library for the use of students and faculty but all possible privileges are accorded to citizens of the state and to librarians of other states.

Librarian, William E. Henry.
